Career Counselling session

There was a 'career counselling session' organised at the Department of English, Palna University on 27th February 2018. The students of second semester were counselled by Professor Shanker Dutt. He talked about various job opportunities that are available for the students of the Department. He said that according to one's interest one can opt for a career in different fields such as publishing, journalism, content creation, marketing, teaching in Non-Governmental organisation for disabled and underprivileged students.

It is a general assumption that students of literature do not have large scope in terms of fields of employment. Prof. Dutt negated this assumption and made the students aware of the world full of career options that are waiting to be explored. He said that the students need to explore global employment opportunities by thinking out of the box.

In course of the discussion about realising one's field of interest Prof. Dutt proposed the idea of interning in summer vacation this year. In order to apply for these internships he directed the students to prepare their curriculum vitae and he gave a standard format for the same. He distributed an application form for internship among the students and inquired about their fields of interest. A lot of ideas came up as an answer to this inquiry. People were interested in working with newspapers, publishing houses, museums and NGOs working in direction of making education accessible to all.

The 'Career Counselling session' ended up being an enlightening experience for the students which opened to them the doors of the professional world.

The session was attended by 40 students of second semester of Department of English, Patna University.
