Report for promotion of Universal Values

We celebrate various festivals based on past events and guidance given by our ancestors. The reason for most of these festivals is to mark the triumph of Good over evil or emergence of something good which may be human or divine. The purpose of most of the festivals is to spread happiness, goodness and joy. These festivals belong to different religions, and consequently different groups celebrate different festivals. However, there are national festivals/days celebrated by all Indians. They are Independence day, Republic day and birth anniversary of our great leaders like Gandhi ji. In addition to these we also celebrate different International days like World Environment day, Earth Day etc.

Some of the programmes conducted at Patna University are:
