Report on Students' Feedback

Programme Name: M.A. in Social Work

Department Name: Sociology

The students feedback was received in about 36 in numbers. The student were administered a schedule in which their opinion on a ten point scale was solicited. This consisted two major issues

(a) Attributes of the papers been taught in the Semester & (b) attributes of the teachers regarding the learning value of the paper generally the students rated from very good to good by marking 10 to 7 points. On applicability/relevance to real life the rating was slightly lower; generally students marked 7 to 5 points. On depth of course content again the students in large number (about 85%) gave 10 to 7 points that is rated very good to good. The coverage of course was also rated very high on the issue of clarity and relevance of teaching material the response came slightly at lower side where maximum student marked 7 to 5. This may be because good reading material is available only in English whereas, our almost 90% students opt for Hindi as their medium of study. The extent of effort required by students is also rated very high possibly because this is about their own attribute. So far relevance and learning value of project/report writing is concerned the response was from very good to good because social work is basically field oriented course and the Department attached the students without side agencies for their internship. The overall rating of the papers is around 'good'.

The teachers skill and ability was measured on a check list consisting 10 points. As the Department has only two regular teachers maximum teaching is carried out by Ad-hoc teachers & Research Scholars. Obviously the student's feedback regarding teacher is only in a few cases very good to good. In maximum cases and on maximum points the students have marked their response from 7 to 5. This may be interpreted as students feedback regarding teachers is just satisfactory or average. This can be improved only with induction of regular faculty members.
